"Perception and Cognition at Century's End" contains cognitive psychology surveys that are up-to-date and historically based, as well as references to the development of cognitive psychology over the past century. The book can serve as a central or specialized text for a range of psychology courses. Written by prominent active researchers in the field, this book presents broad coverage of perception and cognition. It considers perception and cognition in the context of the thought of the past half-century and contains extensive references. It is an excellent resource.
