West Africa's agriculture has, for 150 years, been heavily geared toward export, yet the region is one of the world's poorest. Keith Hart examines this question, focusing particularly on how this situation has affected the indigenous peoples of West Africa. Commerce has grown impressively, but productivity remains low and capital accumulation is retarded. The reasons exist primarily in internal conditions shaping social institutions. Before, during, and since colonialism, the particular problems of these preindustrial states have shaped agricultural development more than the pressure supposedly emanating from the 'world system' of international capitalism. This book, following the classical economists as well as Marx and Lenin, argues for the necessity of rapid capitalist penetration into West African agriculture. The book is also a readable introduction to the history and ethnography of the region as a whole.

评论

主要从“技术”与“人口人口”、“生产资料”与“小农”、“国家”与“社会动员”三个方面来扩展马克思理论的实践。第四、五章分析极为精彩。

西非的政治与经济对理解我们自己很有启发，国家、市场、资本对商品农业的影响，这种发现是资本主义的吗？农民无产阶级化是否推动了农业革命？类似的种种的国家对农村和农业的治理也正发生在我们这里
