The opening of the first two halls of the Auditorium in Rome, created by the Italian architect Renzo Piano, was marked by an exhibition of Pianos work: Seven sites for music from the Ircam in Paris to the Auditorium in Rome. This catalogue brings together the pictures from the exhibition - architectural drawings, models and photographs celebrating concert halls in Parma, Berlin, Nouméa, Venice, Milan and Turin - and an interview with Lucianio Berio, Renzo Piano and Tullio Regge. Text in English and Italian.
