Book, standing in the bookstore holding a

If I am standing there, with the book in my hand, at least on of three things have already happened: Friend recommended it. Read a good review. Cover caught my eye.

I can appreciate a cool cover. But it's like the extra credit part of a test- it only enhances an already solid grade. Getting it right won't help if most everything else is wrong. And getting it wrong won't hurt if most everything else is right. (There are countless books I cherish whose covers I don't like too much, or worse, I guess, cannot even now recall.) The interior of this book- the terrain of its pages, where all those words took me, the tiny but very real spot it ultimately occupies in my mind- that becomes the book

作者介绍:

I have not survived against all odds.

I have not lived to tell.

I have not witnessed the extraordinary.

This is my story.
