Invitation to Awaken is a radical call to liberate ourselves from the mistaken belief that we exist as a separate individual. This simple yet profound message, conveyed in a clear and often humorous manner, helps free us from our self-imposed limitations. When we recognize our true nature, we express the freedom that is our natural state and birthright.

These new dialogues with Tony Parsons, recorded from talks in Southern California, deepen the exploration that he began in his best-selling book, As It Is. This refreshingly original and timeless message has the power to demystify our long-held concepts about spiritual awakening and cut through the subtle mental obstacles that obscure our natural state of Presence.

Rather than adopt an approach that perpetuates our sense of separateness, Parsons urges us to drop all effort to become realized and discover the liberating truth that we already are what we seek.
