Published to accompany a groundbreaking exhibition of film and video works at Tate Modern, Time Zones explores questions about the nature of time and the way it is perceived in modern culture. The international selection of artists featured in the book, including Fkret Atay, Yael Bartana, Jeroen de Rijke, Wllem de Rooij, Wolfgang Staehle, and Fiona Tan, all make the passage of time a central feature of their work. Essays by Tate curators Jessica Morgan and Gregor Muir offer insights into the individual artists. AUTHOR BIO: Jessica Morgan is a curator at Tate Modern. Gregor Muir is a curator at Tate.
