The Sleepwalkers is a trilogy, where Broch takes "the degeneration of values" as his main theme. The trilogy has been praised by Milan Kundera, whose own writing has been greatly influenced by Broch. It is considered, along with Robert Musil´s The Man Without Qualities, to be a masterpiece of modern Austrian prose of the first half of the 20th century.

作者介绍:

Hermann Broch (November 1, 1886 – May 30, 1951) was a 20th century Austrian writer, considered one of the major Modernists.
