The papers in this collection provide views on central aspects of Thomas Hobbes's (1588-1679) life and work. The collection testifies to his enduring importance as a major philosopher four hundred years after his birth, and helps to unravel aspects of his intellectual biography which are relevant to a proper appreciation of his philosophy. The contributors are: G. A. J. Rogers, Alan Ryan, David Gauthier, Noel Malcolm, Arrigo Pacchi, David Raphael, Tom Sorrell, Francois Tricaud, and Richard Tuck. This is the first volume in a new series sponsored by the Mind Association.

Tuck写霍布斯与笛卡尔的文章很有启发Sorell将科学的文章简单但一针见血地点出来霍布斯眼中的科学，与我们现在认为的科学的的不同，这一点有利于把握霍布斯对于政治哲学的看法，以及他对于分析综合方法的理解。
