This is I am aware though not a particularly popular > sentimental so not exactly a novel one either I do believe > however that this is the very first time it has ever been expressed with an intention to substantiate it with well documented written evidencel n other wordseverybody talks about people but nobody ever does anything about them

 What I have decided to do about them is to point out that except in extremely rare instances people are pretty much like everyone elseThey all say the same thingshave the same names and wear their hair in the same stylesThis iS not a modern phenomenon but one that has been true
