Spunky，sweet-natured Jessica Monroe is 34 years old and perfectly happy being single. A producer at a top-rated morning show with a coterie of fun friends and a busy nightlife，she isn t in any rush to meet a man. Her girlfriends，however，disapprove. And when they secretly place a personal ad on a hot singles Web site on her behalf， Jess is reluctantly hurtled into the topsy-turvy world of online dating，where frogs masquerade as princes—but your soul mate might be just one click away. A laugh-out-loud whirlwind of disastrous dates ensues，from Simon，who seems dreamy over e-mail but ditches her at the dinner table，leaving her with the bill，to Graham，a self-described "Ferrari driver" who turns out to be a car salesman—with several (old，fat，bald，creepy，cheap，stuck-up) men in between. When an unforeseen event turns her world upside down，Jess starts to wonder if the qualities she thinks she wants in a man are what she ultimately needs. And whether，as a new mystery suitor appears in her e-mail in-box，Cupid has other possibilities up his sleeve . . . With her sparkling sensibility and brilliant knack for rendering the foibles of modern love in a fresh，unforgettable way，Jane Moore has become one of the fastest-growing names in contemporary women s fiction. Told with her signature wit， wisdom，and sass，Love @ First Site is an irresistible tale about what happens when we start to look for love between the lines on a computer screen--and a winning, unputdownable look at contemporary romance.
