Appropriate for predominantly postgraduate, MA and diploma students of applied linguistics, TESOL diplomas, second language acquisition theory and research, education research and psychology. Teaching and Researching Motivation addresses issues surrounding motivation in language learning: describing what motivation is, how to increase it and how it can be assessed. Based on Dornyei's own well-known theory of language motivation, together with a comprehensive review of both the psychological and the second language literature, this text provides a summary of the various facets of motivation, examines how the theoretical insights can help classroom practitioners in their everyday teaching practice, and offers practical recommendations and tips for language teachers.

书评

虽然出版时间比较久了，但总体而言还是一部很好的概论，适合做研究的beginner或者老师们去看，从中发散出去看看提到的其他作者的书，那么会对这个领域有比较完整的了解。
