This book examines the early entry of Pakistan's armed forces into the country's politics and the struggle for the restoration of democracy since 1968. It deals in some detail with the rule of General Yahya Khan and Zulfikar Ali Bhutto during the 1970's, the General Zia-ul-Haq during the 1980's. The author also reviews the events that led to the re-entry of the armed forces into politics in 1999, after a short and turbulent period of 'democracy', and provides some insights into possible political developments in Pakistan in the future.
