Flash Forward is The Magenta Foundation's annual emerging photographers competition. Now in its third year, this compelling look at the future of emerging talent from three countries brings to light the talent and promise of an exceptional group of photographers. Photographers from Canada, the United States, and the United Kingdom are invited to submit. The jury comprises top industry professionals; this year's jurors are Daniel Faria from the Monte Clark Gallery in Toronto, Simon Bainbridge from the British Journal of Photography in the United Kingdom, Darren Ching from Photo District News in New York, and new this year, Rebecca McClelland from The Sunday Times in the United Kingdom. Flash Forward showcases the future of photography, focusing on emerging talent that jurors have identified as having great potential. This small volume is essential for curators, collectors, advertising professionals and artists who wish to stay fully informed about up-and-coming photographers. Susan Bright is an independent writer, lecturer, and curator. She is a former curator of photographs at the National Portrait Gallery and director of The Association of Photographers Gallery.
