Dr. Alfred W. Kopf, a pioneer in education and in the clinical aspects of malignant melanoma, has joined forces with Dr. Ralph Braun and Dr. Ashfaq Marghoob to produce this new color atlas. The dermoscopy is a new and valuable tool for early recognition of melanoma and suspicious precursor lesions. This atlas provides a concise and practical guide that can be used as a tutorial for learning dermoscopy. It is a quick reference that can be used during the clinical evaluation of a particular lesion and as a general reference book. The editors provide dermatologists and general practitioners with an up-to-date resource on a technique that is considered by many to be the standard of care for assessing pigmented lesions.
