Organizing your affairs in case you die or become incapacitated is vitally important, and this comprehensive journal is just the tool you need. By filling out this workbook, you will ensure that your important papers (birth certificate, real estate deeds, insurance policies, trusts, wills, etc.) are accessible, your possessions are distributed as you desire, your wishes for a funeral or memorial service are carried out, and more. You'll also find space to reflect upon your life and its memories, accomplishments, and joys. Finally, you'll experience the satisfaction of organizing your affairs, and reduce the burden on your friends and family by recording everything they'll need to know in the journal's pages. Leave the best legacy you can for your loved ones by "Putting Things in Order". This journal has been vetted by a well-regarded estate lawyer, who said he would recommend it to his clients.
