The Making Sense series comprises five concise, readable guides to research and writing for use by students at all levels of undergraduate study. Designed especially for students in the humanities, Making Sense outlines the general principles of style, grammar, and usage, while covering such issues as how to research and write an essay, how to write an exam, and how to document sources. This fifth edition of the book has new material on evaluating Internet sources and avoiding plagiarism, as well as new and updated examples.
