In this, the first of the "Pleasure Games" series, three full length erotic novels by Cathryn Fox, a most unexpected couple discovers their hidden desires are about to be exposed. As Laura goes to work each day she wonders why so many women seem to want to curb their husbands' desires? The lab where she works is developing a drug that will calm down the supposedly oversexed men who've overdone the Viagra! But underneath Laura's pristine white labcoat beats the heart of a woman who longs to let her inhibitions go. So when her co-worker Jay decides to be a human guinea pig and test their potion on himself, the most amazing thing happens. The potion does the opposite of what they'd expected: Jay's sexual desire goes through the roof, and Laura becomes a willing participant in the sexual adventures that come next.
