Everyone's heard the stories: An aunt's husband dies and the vultures sweep in. She ends up paying $10,000 for a coffin, even more to a lawyer, and then loses the rest of her money in shady investments. The financial services sector has become a do-it-yourself marketplace--and the point where that hits people hardest is in dealing with worldly matters after a loved one dies. V.K. Thornton brings more than a decade of experience in human resources and financial education to an extremely emotional issue. And Thornton gives vulnerable people easy-to-use tools for avoiding...or dealing with...crooks and crooked business.
