It's spring in New York City, but in the lives of these four friends there's already plenty of HEAT. Geneva Holliday got your "Groove" on, gave you "Fever," and now she turns up the "Heat," in her wildest novel yet. Between their bedroom antics and their busy lives, Crystal, Geneva, Chevy, and Noah are all faced with situations that are way too hot to handle . . . Crystal's finding it hard to concentrate at work, and no wonder--she's got a stud in Antigua who's beginning to mean more to her than just steamy sex. While things are red-hot with Geneva and her sexy young man, Deeka, her new diet pills stir up more trouble than her collection of slinky lingerie ever did. Chevy's out-of-control spending has finally caught up with her; when her paycheck is almost entirely garnished, she is forced to resort to sex with an ex to keep a roof over her head. Noah and his partner can't come to an agreement about adopting children, but one thing's for sure: A blast from his little-known past with a woman is about to rock his world.
