Have you ever quipped, “I’d like that written in stone . . .” ? Well, now you virtually can! Watson-Guption proudly announces the newest addition to the very successful line of blank books and sketchbooks, Written in Stone : A Journal, published in cooperation with the prestigious Metropolitan Museum of Art’s Department of Egyptian Art.

Written in Stone has an innovative tactile, flexible cover with hieroglyph reliefs, brief introductory text, and illustrations followed by blank, lined pages featuring a ghosted Egyptian motif. This eye-catching portable format is a fun twist on the traditional WG sketchbook. For anyone who keeps a journal, loves to write, or has a passion for anything Egyptian, Written in Stone is a fabulous source of inspiration for any occasion.

- A portable blank book published in conjunction with the prestigious Metropolitan Museum of Art
- Fun twist to the very successful Watson-Guption sketchbooks
