With an introduction by Manfred Stassen, this collection of articles by Martin Heidegger covers many topics over many years. They cover his anti-semitism, his relationship with Nazism, his work on phenomenology and essays on his groundbreaking notions of Being. The collection also includes his influential essay "The Question Concerning Technology". The volume is divided into three sections: the man - politics and ideology; the method - philosophy from phenomenology to "thanksgiving"; the message - from "Being" to "Beyng".
