Times are changing, and problems that kids face are changing with them. That is why this popular book of advice and inspiration has received a brand-new updating. The author, a registered nurse and author of more than 20 books, helps youngsters deal with large and small problems--including staying safe and creatively occupied at home if both Mom and Dad are away at work. Practical answers to other problems include what to do if a fire starts, how to cope with failing a test at school or losing a game in the playground, dealing with bullies, posting a list of important phone numbers for reference at home when quick help is needed, coping with the problem of parents' divorce, and much more. Advice is direct and straightforward, spelled out in words kids can understand. Full-color illustrations on every page. (Ages 7-12)
