There is an EcoJournal for each of the four seasons. A Kid's Winter EcoJournal invites kids to write about nature on pages exquisitely illustrated by Margaret Brandt. The author has included short entries from her nature journals, which express her irrepressible and unflagging delight in the natural world. Kids love to read about Trickle Creek, where cardinals and bluejays are like Christmas ornaments in the evergreens and the groundhog hibernates in its burrow. The Winter EcoJournal is packed with nature activities for exploring winter. Kids can decorate a tree or a snowman for birds, make a collecting caddy and collect winter potpourri, make woodpecker pizza and bird biscuits, test for acid snow with cabbage water, and enjoy dozens of other fall activities that teach them to love the world of nature. Based on solid science. Grades 3-up.
