Authored by the foremost researcher in the education of children with attention deficit-hyperactivity disorder (ADHD), Sydney S. Zentall provides educators with evidence-based knowledge about teaching students with ADHD and explains how these students differ from students with other disabilities. Based on the premise that educators are committed professionals, ADHD and Education: Foundations,

Characteristics, Methods, and Collaboration provides information for teachers who want to understand the perspectives of students who have ADHD as well as their families and educators who work with them.
