A set of religious scrolls have been in the family of Alexander Renaldo Mendeneres for centuries - ever since 1200 AD when a heavenly messenger was sent to earth to choose a good man, a trustworthy scribe to record the gods' predictions for the future of man. Now in the twenty-first century, Alexander's evil and conniving wife has stolen the priceless articles and taken them to the United States, her intention to find an interested - and wealthy - buyer for them. Recognising the strength and bitterness of his wife's hatred of him, Alexander must now use his beautiful young daughter as bait in order to try and smoke his vile, opportunistic wife out of hiding...
