One sunny spring day Bunny comes hopping up to a young chicken. "Please, dear Chicken, I need just one more egg. Will you lay it for me?" "Me?" cried the chicken. "I can't lay eggs I'm still too young." But the chicken "does" want to help the bunny. Unfortunately, her ideas are quite absurd, leading them on a hilarious but futile quest around the farm. How the determined chicken finally comes up with one more egg is a comical celebration of perseverance and pluck.
