Woodworkers take great pride in building shop-made jigs and fixtures that showcase their skill and craft. Now, in his final book, the late master woodworker, Danny Proulx offers a look into the jigs and fixture techniques perfected in his more than 30 years of woodworking experience in a book that includes: 50 projects, each of which can be completed using scrap wood and simple hardware; step-by-step photos with clear, concise text and enlarged technical drawings for ease of reference; and, an inclusive approach allowing projects to be adapted to different brands of tools. Teaching woodworking tools a new trick or two is easy with the hints and insights in this book.
