Each year, more than 300,000 parents will be diagnosed with invasive cancer. Each of them will then have the heart-wrenching task of breaking the news to their children. This diary and activity book, written by the founder of The Children's Treehouse

Foundation, is designed to help children cope with the news that their parents or grandparents have cancer. Talking with My Treehouse Friends provides straightforward, age-appropriate explanations, and allows kids to express their feelings through drawing, coloring, pasting, and writing. Sharing time with your child or grandchild while working on these activities will make these moments all the more meaningful for both of you.
