The appealing hero of Duck's Tale returns in this heart-warming story of friendship. Duck is puzzled when he finds a rose and a piece of paper with nothing on it but a hand-drawn heart, left on his doorstep. "For me?" he wonders. He takes his mystery note and rose to Toad's house and finds all his other friends are already there. Each of them has received a rose and a heart too Who could have sent these mysterious gifts and who are they really for... Perfect for Valentine's Day, this is a "year-round" book that will delight children of all ages. It can be used to soften the trauma of being the "new kid in the neighborhood," or in discussions about making new friends. This is the second book in The Continuing Tales of Duck series.
