This little how-to book for kids explains in a conversational tone why thank-you notes are important (and not just for occasions when gifts are received), and teaches kids how to write them in five quick steps. For kids stumped for inspiration, it includes a dozen sample notes and a list of fifty adjectives to describe just about every gift. It provides useful tips for sending a gracious note for every gift -- even those which weren't well received. There are even fill-in-the-blank forms to get kids started.
