Little Donkey's mother is going out with a friend, and Nanny Hen is coming to baby-sit. But Little Donkey doesn't want a sitter In true little kid style, Little Donkey soon figures out that the rules aren't always the same when Mama is away. When Nanny offers oatmeal, he asks for fries, accompanied by a resounding "Mama always lets me." Using the same line, Little Donkey gets to play outside past bedtime, gets a candy when he falls down, and gets a bedtime story told just the way he likes it.
