Stories about the lives we lead and the lives we wish we led. How much of your life is fantasy? That is the question the offbeat characters in this story collection seek to answer. From the hilarious fabrications of the misguided autobiographer in the title story to the unusual encounter of the narrator in "The Last Chance Texaco," these are people slowly learning the truth about the world. They are discovering that the line between fantasy and reality is as thin as a white lie or a drawn curtain. With a style that is both humorous and heartbreaking, Kun shows us the hidden side of human existence—that what we perceive and what is real are often more different than we would like to admit.
