For Dio Rodriguez, manhood means keeping his barrio rep stone cold- and striking back before others hit them first. The only thing he lets himself care about is Jennifer, the quiet, dark-eyed girl who believed in him when no one else would. But when a drive-by shooting forces him into a prison boot camp and lands Jennifer in the hospital, Dio must learn a different kind of courage to survive. Against lies, violence, and heartbreaking betrayal, Dio has one last chance to turn it all raound, fight for his new life...and prove his love for Jennifer is real.
