With their trademark wit and wisdom, Rosemary Wells and Marc Brown present a groundbreaking - and side-splittingly slapstick - story which introduces the importance of healthy habits. When a fast-food fanatical family of bunnies set out on holiday they pack their RV full of TVs and snacks but when the weighed-down vehicle breaks down in the middle of nowhere, Farmer Spratt saves the day by showing the Gulps the value of a fresh, home-cooked meal and the lasting benefits of physical activity. The Gulps transformation is sure to inspire a generation of super-sized kids - and parents - to turn over a new leaf!
