That Clouseau-like clone, Monsieur Pamplemousse, and his faithful hound, Pommes Frites, are swept into an investigation when a person or persons unknown set out to bankrupt and discredit France's premier bible of cuisine, "Le Guide".

作者介绍:

MICHAEL BOND was born in Newbury in 1926. In 1958, his first children's book, A Bear Called Paddington was published; many more were to follow and the bear became a star. In 1983 he started writing adult fiction, with the first tale to feature Monsieur Pamplemousse and his faithful bloodhound, Pommes Frites.
