It is wintertime in the city, and Christmas decorations are everywhere. But in Lizzie and Ben's neighborhood, a woman lives in a box, grateful for the warm air that escapes through a vent in the sidewalk. Confronted each day with the presence of a lady living in a box in their neighborhood, Lizzie and Ben decide to help. Through the process of reaching out to a homeless person, they learn the value of sharing and begin to grasp the essence of community. They also are drawn closer to their own mother. Full color.
