In the 1950s Children's Activities Magazine ran a delightful monthly feature. Children from all over America submitted recipes which they had successfully prepared. An illustrator named Sonia Roetter added a little drawing to each recipe, and a whimsical and useful page was created for each month. We reprint, in Fun In The Kitchen, more than a hundred of our favorite entries from the many hundreds which were run in the life of the column. They are simple enough to be cooked by children eight years and older. We have added a little color to the images in a manner which we think would have pleased the artist. Our staff chef has examined all the instructions for reasonableness.
