Ingenious rat detective Inspector Rockfort has an invitation for all young sleuths: join him on a treasure hunt. A dozen precious pieces have just been snatched from the city museum. Where could the missing valuables be? Rockfort is determined to find out, as he interviews all the shopkeepers on the street where the thief was last seen. Are there scarabs and ankhs concealed in the brightly colored galleries, flower stalls, and intriguingly detailed junk stores? On every page, children are challenged to find one of the purloined items hidden in the drawing and figure out the answers to riddles. When all the puzzles are solved, the mystery is too
