Allow readers to discover how energy is used today. The series aims to provide fresh content that will motivate readers to pick up the books while providing coverage of an area of the curriculum, in this case science. The books deal with key topics in a simple and manageable way. Weird and wonderful examples and particularly examples that relate directly to readers' lives are used. Each title is structured into chapters, with different text types throughout e.g. reports, recounts, quotations, newspaper articles. Features include fact boxes, new words band ('Word store'), photo notes, glossary, sidebars, search tips for the internet, and index. There is plenty of white space, sub-heads and large images.
