Graphic Poetry is a book of modern poetry from contemporary writers around the world that places the poems within a visual context. Leading international designers, illustrators and image makers accepted the challenge of creating a visual response to these poems, and their ideas run through the book in a series of unique double-page spreads. With its diverse mix of styles and ideas graphic Poetry is a unique volume which will delight both the eye and the mind. Over fifty designers/illustrators have produced original artwork for Graphic Poetry including: Big Active, Blue Source, Marc Boutavant, Build, Delaware, Marion Deuchars, eboy, Fellow Designers, FL@33, Michael Gillette, Happypets, Angus hyland, Intro, Alan Kitching, non-Format, Phunk Studio, Powergraphixx, Rinzen, Tomato and Why Not Associates. The foreword is written by Paula Carson, deputy editor of international communication arts magazine "Creative Review." Wig-01 is a UK-based creative design partnership founded by Andrew Townsend and James Warfield.
