All the Huffles are fast asleep, except for Jack. He heard a noise that rocked the floor. He heard a noise that shook the door. Jack heard . . . a snore! Just who is making this racket? Unable to sleep, Jack and his dog go searching. It must be Mama Gwyn, whose huffs and puffs set her curlers spinning, but when Jack wakes her . . . the snore roars on! And so it goes with Baby Sue, the twins, Papa Ben, even the farm animals. At last the Huffles follow their ears toward a surprising culprit. This accumulative tale is told in effortless rhyme that invites kids to anticipate the refrains, while the colorfully goofy artwork complements the story's good-natured humor. A must-have for any family because, well, everyone snores. (Yes, even you!)
