Let the games begin--word mixes and puzzles and picture trickery, that is You'll have hours of fun with these brainbusting goodies. "Plant" flowers by drawing pictures of roses, tulips, daisies and other blooms in the empty squares of a grid. Follow the order you see in the first few boxes; can you guess which flower will be in the very last square? Decode some numeric "robot language: all you have to know is that $a=1$, $b=2$, and $c=3$ to get started. Make your way through a guinea pig maze to help the friendly animal get a carrot; but you must obey some important rules about where you can and cannot go. "Plus"--catch the bad snail that ate the garden gnome's plants; answer some mind-bending riddles, and lots more
