Here are three never-before-published Eric Carle board books about direction??gathered together in a smart, handsome slipcased package. One book features things above us, such as planes, clouds, rainbows, and the moon. A second book shows things on the Earth??s surface, like trucks, boats, and trees. The third book presents things that are below us, like roots, fish, and hibernating bears. Each picture is paired with a simple noun-and-verb text that is perfect for teaching young children words and concepts. A clever tool for parents and teachers, this fun, colorful package also makes the ideal gift for Eric Carle fans of all ages.
