Sara is not happy. Her family have decided to move interstate, and as a consequence, she has a sore throat from yelling "I am NOT GOING " Marking the days off until she has to move in her secret diary--the real one and not the fake one that she leaves for her family to read--she confesses to a crush on the 'player' Jack Marconi, her despair at finding out that her best friend Ellie has stolen him away and how eating at Burger Heaven is better for you than working out at the gym. Will she have to eventually move or will the journey for Sara commence way before 'Moving Day'?
