

Herbert Spencer and the Invention of Modern Life

Herbert Spencer and the Invention of Modern Life\_ 下载链接1

著者:Mark Francis

出版者:Cornell University Press

出版时间:2007-5-24

装帧:Hardcover

isbn:9780801445903

The ideas of the English philosopher Herbert Spencer (1820-1903) profoundly shaped

Victorian thought regarding evolutionary theory, the philosophy of science, sociology, and politics. In his day, Spencer's works ranked alongside those of Darwin and Marx in their importance to the development of disciplines as wide-ranging as sociology, anthropology, political theory, philosophy, and psychology. Yet during his lifetime-and certainly in the decades that followed-Spencer has been widely misunderstood. Both lauded and disparaged as the father of Social Darwinism (it was Spencer who coined the phrase "survival of the fittest"), and as an apologist for individualism and unrestrained capitalism, he was, in fact, none of these; he was instead a subtle and complex thinker. In his major new intellectual biography of Spencer, Mark Francis uses archival material and contemporary printed sources to create a fascinating portrait of a man who attempted to explain modern life in all its biological, psychological, and sociological forms through a unique philosophical and scientific system that bridged the gap between empiricism and metaphysics. Vastly influential in England and beyond-particularly the United States and Asia-his philosophy was, as Francis shows, systematic and rigorous. Despite the success he found in the realm of ideas, Spencer was an unhappy man. Francis reveals how Spencer felt permanently crippled by the Christian values he had absorbed during childhood, and was incapable of romantic love, as became clear during his relationship with the novelist George Eliot. Elegantly written, provocative, and rich in insight, Herbert Spencer and the Invention of Modern Life is an exceptional work of scholarship that not only dispels the misinformation surrounding Spencer but also illuminates the broader cultural and intellectual history of the nineteenth century.

作者介绍:

Mark Francis is Professor of Political Science at the University of Canterbury, Christchurch, New Zealand. He is the author of Governors and Settlers: Images of Authority in the British Colonies, 1820-1860 and A History of English Political Thought in the Nineteenth Century (with John Morrow).

目录:

Herbert Spencer and the Invention of Modern Life 下载链接1

标签

思想史

十九世纪

评论

就是散了点，现在重新看这个框架，感觉说出了不少细节，但是又没有说出实质性的内涵....

-----
Herbert Spencer and the Invention of Modern Life\_ 下载链接1

书评

-----
Herbert Spencer and the Invention of Modern Life\_ 下载链接1