Art Gelien was just a kid when an agent asked him if he wanted to be in movies. Blessed with extraordinary good looks and enough smarts to know that he had a lot to learn, that kid said yes. Rechristened Tab Hunter, he was launched on a journey that carried him to stardom. First he became a pin-up favorite of teenage girls worldwide and then a number one box-office star; then he recorded a song called “Young Love” that knocked Elvis Presley off the top of the charts—and all the time he had to keep secret the fact that he was gay.

In Tab Hunter Confidential, written with Eddie Muller, Hunter looks back on a life lived without apologies and a career that soared, then crashed, and then later—thanks to popular cult-film auteur John Waters—enjoyed a revival. It is a true Hollywood story, told with humor and insight.

好莱坞传记这么写才够劲儿!

Tab这一生太精彩了 花样滑冰洲际冠军 赛过马 演电影 出过专辑 Billboard冠单 在50多岁遇到携手一生的人 可惜的是在迷魂记以后 由于抢不到西城故事的男主 再加上华纳苛刻的合同 一怒之下买断 去了意大利拍片赚钱 如果当时忍气吞声 闪耀奥斯卡也是早晚的事 不过这样就不是Tab Hunter了吧
