Anyone can learn these simple and fun methods for producing out-standing watercolor landscapes and flowers. "Fill Your Watercolors with Nature's Light" simplifies the painting process into a few easy-to-understand steps. Readers will learn to use masking techniques to preserve light in their painting, pouring techniques to create atmosphere, and spattering to create texture. With a chapter on fun experimental techniques, answers to frequently asked questions, and a wealth of friendly and accessible instruction, this book will have artists painting beautiful light-filled landscapes in no time.
