For years, the focus of research on sex work has been on street-based male and female sex workers and the HIV-related risks they pose to their clients. Contemporary Research on Sex Work moves beyond the basic association between sex work and unprotected sex to explore a fuller description of the varied facets of the industry while still pursuing a better understanding of HIV/AIDS risks among those working the streets. The diverse approaches in this unique title include targeted sampling, qualitative and quantitative interviews, ethnographic interviews with key informants, using sex workers as recruiters and quasi-experimental intervention designs.
