This is the second of two volumes which study the faunal assmeblages of the area where the waters of the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans mix. It is designed to allow rapid identification of the 39 species described, several of which are new to the region. This volume deals with the amphipods, euphausiids, mysids, ostracods and chaetognaths, their taxonomy, spatial distribution and abundances. Background data on their physical and biological environments is also provided.
