This unique CD-ROM provides an interactive learning system for anyone who needs to master dosage calculations in a veterinary environment. The three most common methods of calculation-formula, ration-proportion, and dimensional analysis-are presented. More than 150 full-color actual drug labels are included to make the review exercises, practice problems and post-tests as realistic as possible. This interactive tool can be used in a course environment, or as a self-paced study and review to master the most commonly prescribed drugs for a wide range of domesticated animals.
